of Contractor Herbert Tate. Col. Waring's reply to my letter calls for a rejoinder as to one or two points. First-It seems Mr. Tate got the benefit of the scow trimmings (unless the types of Col. Wartion Counsel. the sale of any article the expense, price, or sensideration of which is payable from the city treasury." Mr. Tate certainly comes within the spirit if not the letter of this provision.

In the fourteen months Col. Waring says Mr. Tate "received from the dumps" only $57,925, while, if Col. Waring had not terminated the existing contract and turned the scow trimmings over to Tate, the city would have received during the same period $195,000.

Secondly—Col. Waring does not deay that he read to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on May 5, 1804, Mr. Tate's letter, in which he stated that he was "prepared to pay to the city of New York $245,000 for the privilege of piceling over the subbish of the city aside from garbaxe, ashee, and street sweepines, so far as it is practicable to make the separation," and that he recommended a contract with Mr. Tate. He does not deay that on the stated with Mr. Tate whole a trisposed was made with Mr. Tate whole a trisposed farewel by Mr. Tate would leave a profit of $18,122,00 the city in the disposal of all its refuse of see he making lots of land for the city.

Addient the spirit is also seen the substance of the seconditions was inserted in the form of contract which was approved by the learn of the city. Seed so not deay this, nor does he deap that at a free word in the state of the state of the service conditions was inserted in the form of contract which was approved by the learn of the city.

And so greatly reduce the net amount to be received for Mr. Tate. But he says one of these conditions was inserted in the city of $18,122,00 the city in the disposal of all its refuse the form of contract which was approved by the learn of the city.

And so greatly reduce the net amount to be received for Mr. Tate. But he says one of these conditions was inserted in the city of $18,122,00 the city in the disposal of all its refuse the conditions was inserted in the city of $18,122,00 the city in the disposal of all its refuse the conditions was inserted in the city of $18,122,00 t that the other conditions in Tate's bid were in the contract or advertisement.

In short, there is no e-scape from this dilemma. When Col. Waring bresented Tate's letter and figured a profit to the city of $18,122, he either knew that if Tate made a bid it would be with conditions which would leave he such profit to the city or he did not know it and was dencived by Mr. Tate. Col. Waring's established charac-ter leads to the hellef that he did not know it. His enlogy of and aliberate to Tate after the decal if it was described and leaves that he did discincy of and americae to late after the deceit, if it was deceit, indicates that he did know, or that he feels that he ought to have known it. At any rate, by presenting Tate's letter he secured the approval of his scheme not to include the seou triminings in the contract to be awarded and left those literal "pickings" for Tate agrees, for or Mrs. Andrews and Eugene R. Thompson, who lived on Macon street, in the tear of the Andrews house.

Mrs. Elizabeth Weeks, who had lived in the Andrews house for years, saidlit was customary for Thompson to call at the house after Mr. Andrews had started for work in the mornings. Sometimes he would remain in Mrs. Andrews a room for three hours. The witness sail she had let Mr. Thompson in the house at least twenty times, and Mrs. Andrews had let hin in as many more times. On one occasion the witness spoke to Mrs. Andrews about her actions, and asked her what she believed would be the result of her decelt. To this Mrs. Andrews said she did not know, but she supported it would have to end some time, and she did not think she would like much longer with Mr. Andrews, She also said she would let Mr. Andrews. She also said she would let Mr. Andrews get a divorce, and then she would marry Mr. Thompson. On one Sunday evening, when Thompson was in Mrs. Andrews room, so the witness said, Mr. Andrews returned home, and his wife met him in the hall and told him to go down stairs, saying that she would set his dinner. He did so, and Mrs. Andrews ran to her room and piaced Thompson in the closet, and while she was getting her husband's dinner. Thompson alipped down stairs and escaped by the front door.

Mrs. Weeks, in closing her testimony, remarked that she was a friend of both Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, and she did not wish to say anything which would work harm to either.

The reference will be continued next week.

Their Relations as Brought Out is Mr. Andrews's Suit for Divorce.

Samuel H. Andrews, the chief clerk of the Brooklyn Board of Elections and an active Republican politician, is suing Minnie V. Andrews for an absolute divorce, and in the papers he names several co-respondents. He is known as "Handsome Sam." His wife is small, blond, handsome, and styllsh. Some years ago when roller skating was the rage in Brooklyn she became an expert, and frequently visited other cities to give exhibitions on roller skates. The Andrewses were married by the late Rev. Dr. D. V. M. Johnson, rector of St. Mary's Episcopai Church, on June 30, 1885. It was not a public wedding.

The papers in the case allege that the acts complained of took place at the Astor House, this city; at the Columbian Hotel, Thousand Islands; at Baggs's Hotel. Utlea, and at Andrews's home, 840A Greere avenue, and subsequently at 714 Halasey street. The matter was referred to John M. Ward to take testimony taken so far relates only to the actions.

Mrs. Taylor Surprised That the Case Couldn't Be Settled on a Money Basis. A tall, white halred, well-dressed woman. who gave her name as Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, was committed in Jefferson Market Court yes terday by Magistrate Mott, to answer a charge

Mrs. Taylor refused to give her address. When she was searched a return ticket for Albany was found. She would neither admit hany was found. She would neither admit nor deny that she lived in Albany. The compinimant in the case was Louise Eltoff, private detective in a Sixth avenue dry goods store. She said she had caught the prisoner leaving the store with a quantity of handkerchiefs concariod hemeath her wraps. She had her searched, and, in addition to the handkerchiefs and other articles taken from the dry goods store, some silver stolen from another store was found on the prisoner.

When the Maristrate fixed her ball at $500, Mrs. Taylor said: When the Magistrate fixed her ball at $500, Mrs. Taylor said amount of money with me, but I can pay what the goods are worth."

She seemed surprised when told that the case could not be settled on a money basis. She was locked up.

SAVED A BALLET GIRL'S LIFE. The Dancer Destroyed Her Contume in Do-ing It, So She Was Bischarged.

Daisy Scheler, a dancer, has begun suit against Carl and Theodore Resenfeld, managers of the Liliputions, for a breach of conagers of the Liliputians, for a breach of con-tract. Papers in the case will be served to-day, and hawyer Max Bayersdorfer will try to win $500 for the aggreeved actress.

She avers that she was engaged for a season of thirty-seven weeks, beginning Sept. 28, and was discharged on Oct. 17. Defendant and Pinintiff's Lawyer Both Testify for the Pinintiff, The suit of Catherine E. Hume of 69 East Ninety-fifth street for absolute divorce from her husband, Harry J. Hume, a real estate broker, was on trial yesterday in the Supreme Court before Justice MacLean. The plaintiff says her husband lives with a Mrs. Miller at 64 West Ninety-ninth street, who has a child by him, and who says she is married to him.
The plaintiff and her sister, Mary McGowan, testified to this effect yesterday, and also that they had seen Hume go to the Compton House with a woman. Mr. Hume told Miss McGowan that he was married to Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Hume admitted that she was formerly Mrs. Perry Burns and had got a divorce, and that Burn is still alive, Philip Berg, plaintiff's lawyer, testified that defendant had admitted to him that he had taken a woman to the Compton House, and had said: "For God's sake, don't drag Mrs. Miller's said: "For God's sake, don't drag Mrs. Miller's name into the case."

The other side objected to Berg's testimony, and Justice MacLean said it was a novel proceeding, but he allowed it. When it came to cross-examination of Berg, the opposing lawyer. Thomas O'Callaghan, asked:

Q. Didn't you tell me in your office that you had no evidence, and didn't you ask me to give you evidence so you could sue Mrs. Hume for a divorce? A. Never.

Annon Solomon, clerk in Mr. Berg's office, testified that he heard Hume's admissions to Berg.

Aaron Solomon, clerk in Mr. Berg's office, testified that he heard Hume's admissions to Berg.

Hume was called for the plaintiff and admitted that he had occupied a room at the Compton House with a woman not his wife.

Later he was called on his own behalf and testified that he wasn't able to pay much alimony. Justice MacLean then questioned Hume as follows:

Q.—You saw your counsel talk to the plaintiff in this suit? A.—I did.

Q.—Then he talked to you? A.—Yes.

Q.—And then you were called by the plaintiff's lawyer and gave your testimony? A.—I was.

"I don't understand what your Honor means," said Lawyer Berg.

Lawyer O'Callaghan arose and said: "I assure your Honor that there is no collusion in this suit."

Justice McLean—I did not say so.

Mr. O'Callaghan—But from what has happened there are others here who may say so. All my conversation was concerning allmony. I asked Mrs. Hume what she would accept, and she said $8 a week. I then asked Mr. Hume if he would pay that amount, and he said he could not.

"Oh, no." exclaimed Lawyer Berg.
Addressing Mr. Berg Justice MacLean said:

A Lawyer's Clerk to Get Mrs. Belley's $4,000,

The last will of Mrs. Margaret J. Seiley, who committed suicide at 208 West Eleventh street on Tuesday night, leaves the $4,000 she had in on I uesoay night, leaves the 34.000 she had in savings banks to Thomas P. Hornser, a lawyer's clerk at 146 Broadway, who drew it. It supersedes a will in which her property was left to her sister. Hornsey had apparently earned the woman's gratitude by taking an interest in her and promising that he would see her properly buried when she died.

Suit Against Welde to Be Betried, The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has ordered a new trial in the case of Adelaide Thompson, who, as adminstratrix of Henry Thompson, sued to recover $3,700 from ex-Jus-tice Welde for money deposited with him by Thompson. The Appellate Division holds that the case should have gone to the jury, and com-ments on the fact that Welde's witnesses were closely associated with him.
